

A long dining table is elegantly set for a wedding reception. The table is covered with a white tablecloth and features a series of place settings. Each setting includes a white plate, a glass, and a folded white napkin held in a small white container. The table is adorned with large, lush floral centerpieces of white flowers and greenery. In the background, a long table draped in white fabric is visible, and the room is decorated with blue and white floral arrangements. The overall atmosphere is sophisticated and celebratory.
